Number of Beneficiaries: 50 Students

Objective:

- To motivate students to analyze the challenges and opportunities of freedom of expression in the context of the digital world.
- To provide a platform for students to articulate their ideas, opinions, and arguments effectively in written form.
- To enhance participants' understanding of the constitutional, ethical, and social dimensions of freedom of speech in cyberspace.

Brief Write up on the Programme:

An essay competition on the theme “Freedom of Expression in the Digital Age” was organized on 3rd September 2025 at the Seminar Hall, NCMS. The program aimed to provide students with a platform to express their perspectives on the significance, challenges, and responsibilities of free expression in today's digital era. A total of 50 students participated with great enthusiasm, showcasing their analytical and creative writing skills. The competition encouraged them to reflect on pressing issues such as censorship, online privacy, misinformation, cyber ethics, and the balance between free speech and responsible communication. The event not only promoted awareness about the constitutional and social dimensions of freedom of expression but also fostered critical thinking and responsible digital citizenship among the students. The active participation and quality of submissions highlighted the students' keen interest in contemporary socio-digital issues.

Learning Outcome:

- Students developed the ability to critically analyze the opportunities and challenges of freedom of expression in the digital era.
- Participants refined their academic writing abilities, structuring arguments with clarity, evidence, and creativity.
- Students gained deeper insights into issues such as online privacy, misinformation, censorship, and ethical use of digital platforms.
- The competition encouraged learners to value democratic rights while practicing responsible and respectful communication in the digital space.
