“Guest Talk on Practical Application of Audit in the Real World”

Date: 13th November, 2025

Place: Seminar hall, NCMS

Number of Beneficiaries: 3 Faculties & 80 Students (Final year B.Com)

Resource Person: M. Ram, Chartered Accountant, Bangalore.

Objectives:

- To provide students with an understanding of how auditing concepts learned in academics are applied in real industry settings.
- To develop awareness about the role, responsibilities, and ethical considerations of auditors.
- To familiarize students with real-life audit procedures, documentation, and reporting requirements.

Brief Write up on the Programme:

The Department of Commerce & Management organized a guest talk on the topic “Practical Application of Audit in the Real World” for final-year B.Com students. The session was delivered by C A. M. Ram, a senior Chartered Accountant with extensive professional experience in statutory audit, tax audit, corporate compliance, and advisory services.

The speaker began by bridging the gap between theoretical audit concepts and real business scenarios. He explained how auditors play a vital role in ensuring transparency, accountability, and trust in financial reporting. Students were introduced to the practical workflow of audits, including understanding client business, internal controls evaluation, vouching and verification of transactions, preparing working papers, and forming an audit opinion.

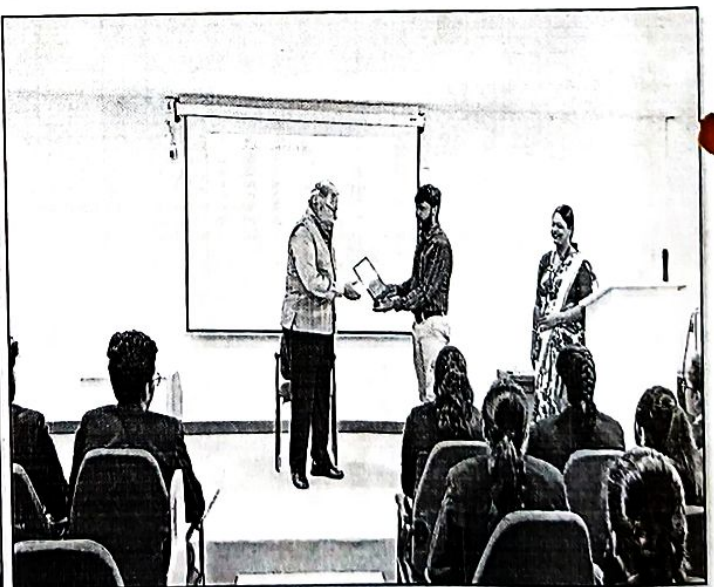

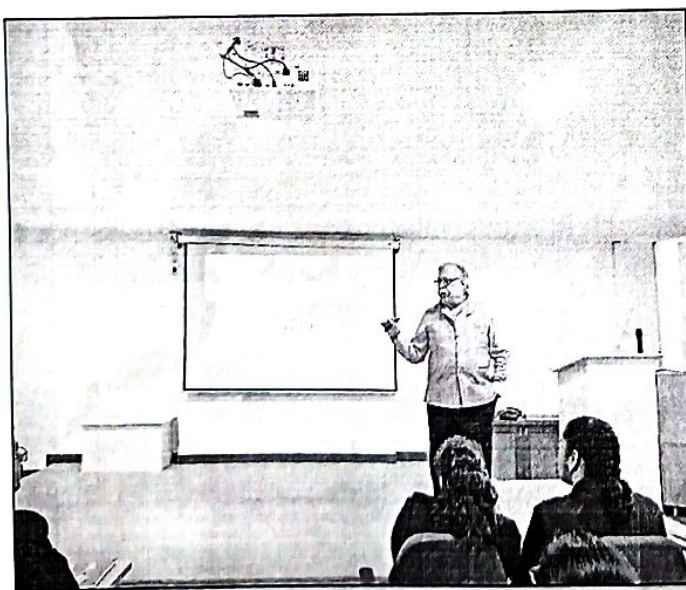

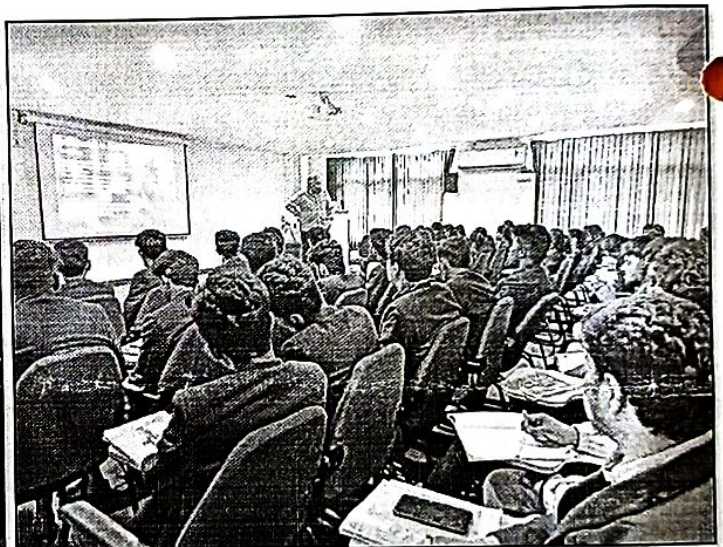

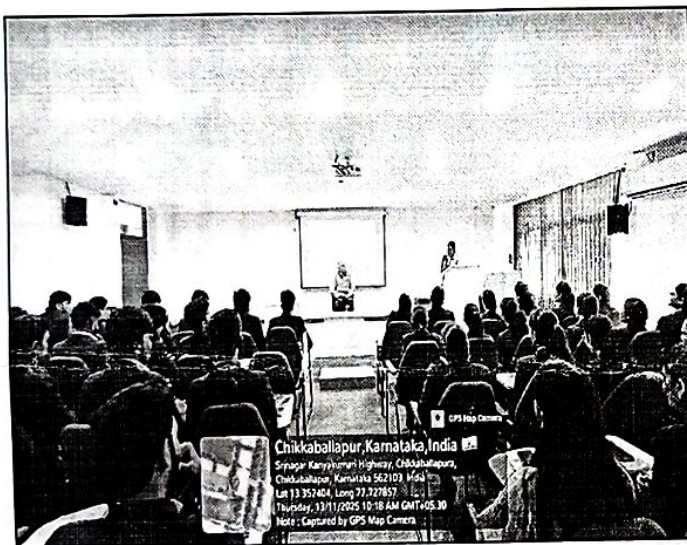

The session included real case experiences and examples from industries such as manufacturing, banking, and service sectors, which helped students understand the complexities and challenges auditors face. The importance of professional ethics, independence, skepticism, and diligence in audit work was emphasized throughout the session.

The session was interactive, with students asking questions related to audit careers, scope of internal audit, and skills required to become a successful auditor. The program ended with a vote of thanks followed by presenting a memento to the guest.

Learning Outcome:

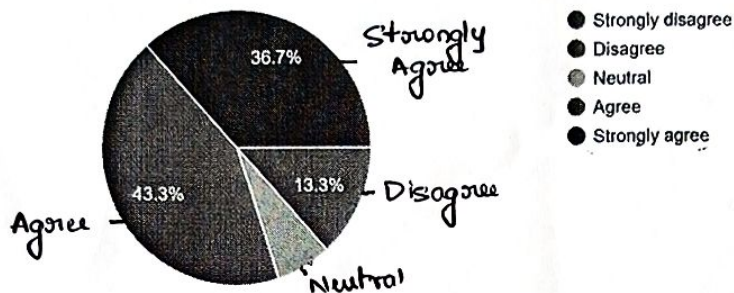

- Students understood how auditing principles are implemented in organizations during real audit assignments
- Gained clarity on the actual responsibilities and expectations from auditors in professional practice.
- Recognized the importance of documentation, evidence gathering, and ethical behavior in audit engagements.
- Developed awareness about career opportunities in auditing, both in practice and industry sectors.
- Learned the value of analytical thinking, communication skills, and professional skepticism in audit work.
